HARM TO EDWARD Paris Police Fear for the Safety of England's King.

Paris, March 11.—The announcement that King Edward will come to Paris on his way to Nice, staying two days in this city and paying a visit to Presiden Loubet, is greatly disquieting to the police. Indeed, the prospect of harboring the British sovereign does not spread joy throughout Paris, except among professional lovers of international harmony At police headquarters the police are both dismayed and disgusted at this morning's news. The officials declare that Paris is more dangerous for King Edward then even for the kaiser, and Henry Copeland Springs New Sensation in England.

IS INTIMATED BOODLE

In the Purchase of Horses for the Army.

London March 11 .- One of the latest charges of looting is probably the most sensational. It is made by Henry Copeland, the agent general for New South Wales, who affirms that special offers of ermounts were made by Australlian erately set aside, prefering to pay £25 to with the service £35 for English and American herses.

Copeland furnishes telegrams to prove his case, but the only reply by the ministry is that certain obstructions and regulations prevented the acceptance of the Australia noffer. The British people are left to draw their own deductions, but the feeling exists that the taxpaying public should not permit the matter to rest where it is. It is declared the prolongation of the war may be directly traced to the bad remounts, for which the country has paid prices high enough o purchase the best class of horses in the various countries.
